NOBLE CALEDONIA

An Introduction by Andrew Cochrane, Noble Caledonia Founder & Director

“ When I first visited the Isles of Scilly some 40 years ago, I thought the archipelago the most bewitching of places in the UK. It may be only 30 miles off the Cornish coast, but suddenly you arrive at a timeless maritime oasis where the grey Atlantic dissolves miraculously into turquoise, and white sandy beaches give way to verdant islands and palm trees. The nurturing warm waters of the Gulf Stream have helped to create a microclimate endowing the islands with great botanical and ornithological diversity.

Most of the year is warm enough to support plant growth for flora normally native to a Mediterranean or sub-tropical climate. The Abbey Gardens on the island of Tresco offer an explosion of sub-tropical colour at the eastern end of the island, whilst to the north and west, a thirty-minute walk away is another world. Here, the coast is rugged and wild with wind-shaped heathers and rugged coastal vegetation.

My first visit all those years ago led me in part to begin a series of UK and Ireland coastal cruises which concentrated on our islands' natural world. Noble Caledonia was the first company to offer such trips aboard small ships and any itinerary beginning in England always included a day in the Isles of Scilly. But, for me and many, a day is not sufficient. There is so much to see on the islands of St Mary's, Bryher, St Agnes and St Martin's whether your interest lies in botany, ornithology, horticulture, maritime history or archaeology and our six-day visit will cover all aspects. The joy of these islands are the gentle walks along car-free lanes and paths, absorbing the flora and birdsong without the background hum of traffic and modern-day life. The islands are small, the walks undemanding and, instead of hopping on and off coaches, our transport will be provided by private boats.

If you have travelled with us on one of our ships to the Isles of Scilly, I hope you will consider returning for a longer stay. If these treasure islands have eluded you up until now I can only recommend you correct this omission and join us for what promises to be an endlessly fascinating experience. ”

YOUR HOSTS

Guest Speaker – Mike Nelhams

We are most fortunate in having Mike Nelhams as our Guest Speaker. We have known Mike for over 20 years as he has welcomed our vessels to Tresco and more recently accompanied our tours in Cornwall. He is one of the island's great characters and will add much to your visit. He trained for three years at the Royal Horticultural Society Garden, Wisley and first went to Tresco on a Studley Trust Scholarship as a student in 1976. After managing a woodland garden in Sussex for five years he returned to Tresco Abbey Garden in 1984 as Head Gardener and then in 1994 took the post of Garden Curator which was established for him. He is an RHS judge on the Tender Plants Committee, judges regularly at Chelsea Flower Show and also is a frequent lecturer throughout the English-speaking world. He has published a book, Tresco Abbey Garden and has made many appearances on national TV and radio, as well as having written many articles for the horticultural press. Mike has a particular interest in plants from the Mediterranean and associated coastal regions of the world. A Fellow of the Institute of Horticulture and an Associate of Honour of the Royal Horticultural Society, Mike regularly leads garden tours.

Tour Leader – Chantal Cookson

Chantal has lost count of how many times she has stepped ashore in the Isles of Scilly. Chantal was born in Suffolk very near the sea and now lives in Northumberland where her husband farms. Chantal has been associated with Noble Caledonia since the company was founded in 1991 and has led tours, be it cruising or land, all over the world. Chantal's initial experience of cruising in British waters was in 1991 when Noble Caledonia undertook its first cruise around the British Isles, which was a ground-breaking voyage and led to a very successful and popular concept. Though her main job over the last 25 years has been working for Sotheby's, she is now a Travel and Fine Art Consultant intertwining in her busy life still working periodically as part of the Noble Caledonia field staff team. From the Arctic to the Antarctica, South America to Australia, the UK, Africa, India, the Seychelles, and many other destinations she has been able to pursue her love of the oceans, travel and photography. Chantal is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

The Itinerary

Day 1 Penzance to St Mary's & Bryher, Isles of Scilly. Make your own way to Penzance Harbour this morning and on arrival meet our Tour Leader, Chantal Cookson who will accompany you aboard the Scillonian IV ferry for the crossing to St Mary's. Arriving around midday, we will transfer to a local boat for the short transfer to the island of Bryher and Hell Bay Hotel. Enjoy an afternoon at leisure before meeting for drinks and a welcome dinner.

Day 2 Tresco. After a leisurely breakfast at the hotel we will embark a private boat for the brief crossing to the island of Tresco. Walk along the traffic-free lane to the Tresco Abbey Gardens where our Guest Speaker Mike Nelhams and the head gardener will accompany us around this most stunning of gardens which includes an extraordinary collection of salvaged figureheads at Valhalla. After the guided tour and some free time to explore the gardens individually, we will have lunch at the New Inn. We then explore the island and head north across the wild heathland in the view of Cromwell's Castle and the ruins of King Charles's Castle. King Charles II hid out in the Isles of Scilly whilst fleeing from the Parliamentary forces. Return to Bryher in the mid-afternoon by private boat and enjoy some leisurely time at Hell Bay before dinner.

Day 3 St Mary's. This morning our private boat will take us across to the hub of the islands, St Mary's and Hugh Town. Take some time to explore Hugh Town or explore the island's historic defences at the Garrison Walls. Taste some of the island's wines from the Holy Vale Vineyard, planted in 2009 with their first vintage arriving in 2014, and hear how with the cooperation of the Duchy of Cornwall they managed to create a vineyard in the most unlikely of locations. Enjoy lunch at the Star Castle Hotel before returning to Bryher for a relaxing afternoon. Perhaps take an afternoon walk on Bryher to the peaceful bays and secluded beaches at the southern end of the island.

Day 4 St Martin's. We take a private boat this morning to St Martin's. This narrow island with perfectly white sandy beaches is a walker's delight. We will start the day with a visit to the Churchtown Flower Farm, a family run venture that sends flowers to home addresses all over the UK. From October to March they grow scented narcissi outdoors in small, sheltered fields and in the summer months they produce all manner of scented old English flowers. After lunch at the Karma St Martin's Hotel, take a walk along the coastal path through scented gorse heathlands or beachcomb looking out to the bluest waters of the islands. Return to Bryher and Hell Bay Hotel in the mid-afternoon.

Day 5 St Agnes. This morning we will embark on a privately chartered seabird and seal watching trip and in the late morning land on St Agnes. Surrounded by rocks and reefs, St Agnes is the most south westerly community in the UK. After lunch at the Coastguard Café there will be some time at leisure to explore this rugged but attractive island with its traditional stone cottages, pocket-size farms and tiny bulb fields. Take a walk along the coastal path with its impressive views of the treacherous Western Rocks and famous Bishop Rock Lighthouse. At low tide you can also walk across to the neighbouring island of Gugh, famous for its Bronze Age Standing Stone and numerous dolmens and burial chambers. Return to Bryher and enjoy farewell drinks and dinner this evening at the hotel.

Day 6 Bryher to St Mary's. Spend the morning at leisure exploring the island of Bryher independently. Following lunch we will transfer to St Mary's Quay for the return ferry journey back to Penzance Harbour, arriving in the early evening.

Hell Bay Hotel – Studio Suites

HELL BAY HOTEL, BRYHER

This is an extraordinary hotel, sitting on the edge of the outermost of the inhabited islands. Yet, for all its remote location it offers great style, wonderful food and a warm and friendly welcome. Hell Bay is tucked away in a secluded cove enjoying spectacular sea views and perfectly blends untamed beauty and sophisticated comfort. For our escorted tour of the islands, we have taken over the hotel for the duration of our trip. The suites and public areas house works by some of Cornwall's leading artists and there is a large terrace with stunning views, perfect for a drink or lunch and a Sunset Deck where you can watch the sun go down over Gweal Hill. Other comforts include a bar, Crab Shack and spa treatment room.

This is such a special place that our itinerary has been planned to allow for free time to enjoy all that Hell Bay has to offer. Bryher's ruggedly beautiful land and seascape are a magnificent setting for a truly relaxing escape, perfectly complemented by the hotel's leisure facilities, whether you seek active relaxation or just a place to unwind. Your Dining

You might think because of its location that the food could be indifferent. Nothing could be further from the truth. Head chef Richard Kearsley presides over a three AA Rosette kitchen. Much of the food is sourced locally including the fish, meat and vegetables, "the ingredients that come into the kitchen inspire the menu, never the other way round". Richard and his team pull off something remarkable. On a remote and tiny island they produce award winning food, not in spite of their location, but because of it. From shellfish delivered by the island fisherman to vegetables grown just down the lane and meat and game from their favourite mainland suppliers.
